Michigan Supreme Court Issues A Second Administrative Order

On March 18, 2020, the Michigan Supreme Court issued a second administrative order providing further restrictions for Michigan's trial courts in responding to the current COVID-19 public health crisis. The order instructs trial courts to limit access to courtrooms and other spaces to no more than 10 persons, including staff, and to limit court activity to only essential functions. Additionally, general civil and business court matters must be conducted remotely or be adjourned until after April 3, 2020.

Bodman is continuing to monitor notices from all courts in which we regularly appear.
