Nicole Kryzhan is a seasoned trademark and copyright professional specializing in domestic and international trademark clearance, prosecution, portfolio management, and enforcement matters.

She has successfully obtained trademark and copyright registrations for a diverse range of small and large companies in numerous fields of use, including automotive, pharmaceutical/medical/healthcare, food/beverage, cosmetics, clothing, computer software and services, and financial/insurance services.

Nicole advises clients on trademark filing and prosecution strategies and has experience drafting agreements pertaining to ownership and other interests, conducting IP due diligence searches, and handling Uniform Dispute Resolution Policy (UDRP) disputes. Nicole participates in enforcement strategies, including monitoring trademark watches, investigating third-party use, and providing advice as to enforcement. She also counsels clients on a number of related issues involving intellectual property, including data privacy and artificial intelligence.
