Abigail Witten is an associate in Bodman's Litigation and Alternative Dispute Resolution Practice Group, where she represents clients in commercial litigation matters.

Before joining the firm as an associate, Abigail participated in Bodman's summer associate program. She conducted legal research and analysis on complex litigation, insurance, and employment law issues and prepared case materials, including memoranda and pleadings. She also served as a judicial intern to the Honorable David McKeague of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, where she researched and analyzed case law and assisted in drafting and editing judicial orders, opinions, and memoranda.

As a law student, Abigail was a member of the Order of the Coif and received Jurisprudence Awards for Evidence, Pre-Trial I, and the First Amendment Clinic. She served as service chair of the Board of Advocates and as a brief writer and oralist for the McGee Civil Rights Moot Court Team and the National Native American Law Students Association Moot Court Team.
