Dayna Mulder, an associate in the firm's Business Practice Group, represents corporate clients in structuring and negotiating complex transactions and advises them on general organizational and business matters.

Before joining Bodman as an associate, Dayna participated in the firm's summer associate program. In that role, she drafted and edited a variety of legal documents – including memoranda, employee handbooks, motions, leases, and purchase and sale agreements – related to business, real estate, intellectual property, and litigation matters. She also worked as a law clerk at a nonprofit law firm that provides free legal advice and representation across a broad range of areas and as an extern with the 17th Circuit Court in Grand Rapids.

Dayna graduated first in her law school class. She served as a staff editor of the Michigan State Law Review and earned Jurisprudence Achievement Awards in a variety of areas including contracts, advocacy, and advanced civil procedure, as well as research, writing, and analysis.
